Photographer: Gary Holmes - EDGE Models Australia @edge_models

Hey there! My name is Alexandra! I'm 22 years young from Brisbane, Australia and I just moved to Sydney. I'm a full-time university student, studying a Bachelor of Applied Science. I'm a fun, loving and crazy girl, always looking to have a good laugh! Anyone who knows me, knows I always have a smile on my face. I want to travel the world and I'm obsessed with natural wonders. I'm a huge animal lover, with too many cats! But shhhh thats our secret! On the weekends I love taking my pug to the beach and laying in the sand. I love being outdoors, camping and 4 x4 driving. In my spare time you'll find me in the gym, or doing my pole fitness!

Hometown:
Brisbane, Australia
Age: 22
Profession: Student

What's your favorite sport?
I love watching the National Rugby League . I also love playing beach volleyball!

What team?
Gold Coast Titans!

What's your favorite movie?
The Fast & Furious series.

Who's your favorite actor?
Ian Somerhalder

What's your favorite song?
At the moment it's "Cheerleader" by OMI!

Who's your favorite artist?
Taylor swift! Major girl crush.

Do you have any piercings or tattoos? How many and where?
I have 1 tattoo, on my lower back.

What's the most memorable pick up line you've ever heard?
Gosh! I've heard so many, especially on my instagram page. One that would stand out to me is "Do you have a map? Because I'm getting lost in your eyes"

What's your idea of the perfect date?
To be honest, nothing fancy. I love a quiet intimate date, like a picnic at sunset or watching movies in my bed, with some good Indian takeaway! And of course lots of ice cream! Haha

What was your first job?

Working at subway! I worked there for 6 years, so that makes me an expert at making sandwiches #wifematerial.

How do we win your heart?
Okay guys listen up! Sending woman inappropriate pictures is most likely not going to get you a date! Or even a hello!
Being a gentleman is always a win for me! I love a guy that knows how to treat a woman the right way and with respect! Little things like opening my door for me and sending me love notes will definitely make me melt on the inside! Hint Hint!

On an average Saturday night, what are you doing?
Having a BBQ with some great friends and some good beer! Couldn't think of anything better plus I can stay in my pajamas if I really want to!

If you could go on a date with one person, dead or alive, who would it be?
Ah this is a hard question! Ian Somerhalder would definitely be there, but I can't resist and say Jennifer Lopez! #lesbihonest . She is absolutely stunning. I hope I look as good as her at that age!

Which physical feature do you most often get complimented on?
Probably my breasts. They seem to be the first thing people notice! Other then my eyes. I would say size is definitely a contributing factor!

What's the most unusual place you've ever hooked up?
Hmmm. I would have to say in my local gym! 11pm at night and just finished my workout.

What qualities drive you wild in a man?

Loyalty, honesty and respect! Can't go wrong with that combo! I also love a guy that can make me laugh. Looks are just a bonus!

When do you feel sexiest?
When I'm doing photoshoots! I struggle a lot with body confidence, but for some reason when that camera comes out I'm a different person. I always leave a photoshoot feeling amazing about myself! Getting all dolled up by the hair and makeup artist definitely helps.

How did you get started modeling?
I first did a photoshoot, just for myself to help gain some confidence and the photographer suggested I should give this a go! I did and I love it! I never thought I could achieve so much in 6 months!

Who is your favorite model?
Abigail Ratchford!

Do you have a favorite behind-the-scenes story from a photo shoot?
I do a lot of photoshoots that include using some type of food, like cream or twinkies! So those shoots are always so fun. Behind the scenes there can be some food fights happening! And inappropriate jokes! Haha

Aside from modeling, what are you focusing on these days?
I'm currently a student at the University of Queensland, studying a Bachelor of Applied Science. Now that I have moved to Sydney I am considering changing my course to something involving human behavior!

What would your fans be surprised to know about you?
I'm kinda of a boring perosn when it comes to fun facts! Some people might be suprised that I'm more than just a pretty face! I'm actually quite smart! I also have one less organ than most people! I had my spleen removed 2 years ago due to health issues!

And, finally, what made you want join the GUYS family?
I've been following your magazine for a while now on instagram! The images in your magazine are always so sexy but classy at the same time! And I love the variety that you put inside your magazine! I'm so excited to be your cover girl!

Basics of the Modern BACHELOR PAD:

You are at the point where you have your own place; you've graduated, have a job, and new responsibilities. You've worked hard to be where you are now. Below are several tips on how to create and elevate the look and style of your current bachelor pad.

Having a dirty bachelor pad is not an option anymore. It might have been an option when you lived in a dorm or a frat house, but those days are over. After working 8+ hours a day you'll find a certain satisfaction coming home to place that looks good and is clean. Secondly, if you are dating someone and they come back to your place they'll have certain expectations. If you can't take care of yourself, how can anyone think you can take care of them?

Have toilet paper
Have hand soap
Clean kitchen and bathroom sinks
Clean kitchen and bathroom countertops
Trash can (empty when full, otherwise odors build will up)

Your living room is most likely the first room guests will enter. This is their first impression, and it should have a couch, coffee table, and TV console (at the minimum). These three items all should match. Finding a couch by the dumpster and relocating it to your place isn't acceptable. Neither is hand-me-down furniture from your uncle. Don't hesitate to spend money on a couch; you'll probably own it longer than you think. Find furniture that reflects your personal style. Furniture that doesn't match creates a disjointed feeling, and is visually unappealing. For great furniture ideas visit http://www.bachelorhaus.com" and use promo code "ForGuysMag" to save $100 off any purchase over $899.

Your Home Theater System should be nice, but not excessive. You and your friends will probably spend a lot time in front of the TV watching movies, shows, and playing video games. This is an investment; keep in mind your system will also be used to play music at your parties, and friends will join you to watch sports games. You can pick up an adequate surround sound system for under $500 that both looks and sounds nice.

A stocked bar is a given. At a minimum always have available Whiskey and Vodka; both of these spirits can be easily mixed with either a cola or soda water. It's ideal to have OJ and cranberry juice available as well. Additionally, have a white or red bottle of wine. Keep the white in the fridge, and the red in a location where heat and sunlight won't affect it.

Every bachelor pad should have at least a few pieces of artwork in every room. These FRAMED pieces should reflect your interests or hobbies, and are used to personalize your space. Keep the art tasteful and sophisticated.

You are no longer living at home with your parents, or sharing a dorm room. Your bedroom is your own sanctuary, and therefore special attention needs to be placed in the room you spend 6+ hours in every day, regardless if your eyes are open or closed.

First, your sheets and comforter (aka duvet) should not be well worn or falling apart, if they are, get a new set. Neutral or earth tone colors work best and match just about anything. If possible your sheets should match your towels and hand towels in your bathroom. Women appreciate this, we as men will never understand why.

As for lighting your bedroom, have a main light that provides most of the room's illumination and a light for your nightstand. Both of these should have dimmers on them, this helps set a particular mood for when your bedroom becomes the Honeymoon suite.

As for furniture, your dresser, nightstand and bed should all match, or at least be the same color. If you are still sleeping on a futon, it's time for a lifestyle change. Invest in good pieces of furniture as they will last you for most of your life. Spend the money.

Having a well-lit bachelor pad is a must. It's best to have a few different sources of lighting in each room. This is especially true if the main source is fluorescent. When looking for table lamps and or floor lamps be sure they are in the same type of style as your furniture. You don't want your parents lights from the 70's and anything that has a football helmet as a lampshade is a definite no-no. Save the football helmet for your man cave when your married.

You need a stocked fridge with food. Not all of your fridge space should be dedicated to beer. Think of the 5 food groups and you should have a 3 or 4 items from each group in your fridge. You never know when guests will come by, and you'll want to show that you are mature enough to host people unexpectedly.

Your bathroom should always be clean including the walls of your shower. Have a small garbage can so you can easily dispose of trash. You are not going to impress too many women when they have your hair and fingernail clippings stuck to the bottom of their feet. Minimize how many objects you keep on your countertop, that way it's easier to clean and looks better.

Have something that's living. This shows you can take of another living object, and will add life to your apartment. Consider a Bonsai tree, very decorative and low maintenance tree. These indoor plants look great and also help with purifying indoor air: snake plant, lady palm, Chinese evergreen and ficus alii. Also, they are commonly available at any plant nursery. Just remember to water and it gets enough light during the day (turn your plan 90 degrees every 3 months so light hits all of the sides).

Rome wasn't built in a day, and neither does your bachelor pad have to be. Take your time; you don't have to purchase everything all at once. For great furniture ideas visit http://www.bachelorhaus.com and use promo code "ForGuysMag" to save $100 off any purchase over $899.

Piper Ivanova

Photographer: Glen Dandridge Jr.

Confident and sultry, Piper Ivanova isn't shy about rolling up her sleeves and getting dirty. Though on first glance she seems like a typical, stylish city-lover, when you peel back her layers you begin to see shades of a different person. Engage this polished professional in a casual conversation, and you'll quickly begin to see where her real passions lie. Whether she's perched on the edge of a mountain or crawling through small spaces under the earth, Piper has always loved pushing both her physical and psychological boundaries. An accomplished businesswoman by day, when Piper breaks free of her 9-5, there's really no telling what adventure she'll launch herself into. In her spare time, she volunteers with a local non-profit that takes disadvantaged, urban youth out into nature for transformative experiences . She loves rock climbing, hiking, and caving, and wants to explore ice climbing and mountaineering next. She hopes to soon become a wilderness first responder, single pitch rock climbing instructor, and eventually a wilderness therapist, in the hopes of escaping the harsh confines of her familiar cityscape forever, and letting her true passions run free.

What's your favorite song? You'd laugh if you heard it, but this song "Touched" by a band called VAST is amazing.

What's your favorite sport?
I absolutely love rock climbing. It's an incredibly challenging sport and one that I love intensely.

What's your favorite movie?
Gladiator. I especially love some of the quotes from that movie. One in particular that sticks out is "What we do in this life, echoes into eternity."

What drives you and motivates you?
I love pushing and expanding boundaries, whether my own or those of the people I love. I love a challenge – whether it's mental, physical, psychological… whatever.

What would your friends say is your biggest weakness?
I usually try to do everything all at once, and have a tendency to get burnt out quickly. Tea, downtime, and just getting outside in nature re-charges me really well.

Who's your favorite actor?
I try not to do favorites, but I do love Chris Pratt. He's a winning combination of handsome, goofy, and intelligent.

Who's your favorite artist?
I actually really love poetry. Color me nerdy. Denise Levertov has some amazing lines in some of her poetry. I highly recommend her.

Do you have any piercings or tattoos? How many and where?
I actually only have two tattoos, presently, though I want more.

What's the most memorable pick up line you've ever heard?
"Hey baby, are those space pants? Because your ass looks out of this world!" – never actually used on me, but I sure as hell would laugh if it were.

What's the most unusual place you've ever hooked up?
The floor of a concrete parking garage was fun at the time, but the road rash I had on my back was not.

What's one thing you think all men should know?
That the strongest thing you can do as a man is to be completely vulnerable with your partner. And if they're smart, they'll cherish the hell out of you for it.

What qualities drive you wild in a man?
Courage, dedication, and passion. A willingness to speak your truths honestly and openly, and to follow your heart. It also helps if you're an incredible climber.

What's your idea of the perfect date?
A long hike to a fantastic multi-pitch trad climb that they lead (so I can gawk at their back muscles the whole time, obviously), and that I would then follow. Afterwards, we'd grab burgers and beer at a local brewery.

How do we win your heart?

Hahaha just take me outside – into a cave, out in the woods, or on the edge of a canyon, and explore with me!

On an average Saturday night, what are you doing?

Possibly hitting a bar and laughing with friends, or staying in and reading a book.

If you could go on a date with one person, dead or alive, who would it be?

John Muir or Ralph Waldo Emerson. I love it when people are just as passionate about nature as me. Is that weird?

What do you feel most comfortable wearing?

Usually just an old t-shirt and panties. Not while climbing, though! Though that would be a pretty great sight.

When do you feel sexiest?

Either standing on top of a desert tower that I just conquered, or when I am in front of the lens, making direct eye contact with my photographer.

How did you get started modeling?

My Dad was actually a professional photojournalist early in his career. He turned a camera on myself, and my two other sisters whenever we were covered in dirt, messy and laughing. So we've always been around it.

What was your first job? I actually worked at a greeting card store, selling Christmas ornaments and creepy little angel statues.

Who is your favorite model?
Christy Turlington has this timeless beauty, elegance, and accessibility. She was ground-breaking.

Do you have a favorite behind-the-scenes story from a photo shoot?
I did a shoot with a photographer friend that involved a very large cast-iron bathtub. We wanted to shoot outside, so it involved a lot of heavy lifting, grunting, and bruises. Those things are heavier than they look! When they say you have to sacrifice for your art, I'm not sure that's exactly what they had in mind.

Aside from modeling, what are you focusing on these days?
I'm trying to get as much wilderness leadership experience as possible. I've just been accepted to a Master's Program in Social Work.

What would your fans be surprised to know about you?
As much of a lover as I am, I absolutely love MMA fighting. I've done some amateur boxing previously, but I want to study muay thai and Brazilian jiu-jitsu next.

And, finally, what made you want join the GUYS family?
Who wouldn't want to be included alongside such incredibly sexy women? It makes a girl feel special!!

Which physical feature do you most often get complimented on?
My lips, definitely!

My name is Violet and I'm a witty, adorable, sarcastic 23 year old from Texas with a nature loving tomboy inside the body of a bikini model. Haha. I'm also bad at talking about myself. Um. I was raised in east-ish Texas and ended up in Dallas where I'm a student studying nutrition and health and just trying to become a health and wellness coach. I'd also like to add on a personal trainer certification but I hate working out and I always have a feeling I'm not doing it right. Maybe I need a personal trainer. Also I work at a coffee shop and that has made me extremely personable and knowledgeable about mundane things like what goes into producing coffee and tea and frappuccinos. I like cats, Futurama, cooking elaborate meals without carbs, and thrift shopping. Interior design would be another of my hobbies if it wasn't so expensive. Fascinating, I know.

NEIGHBOURS From HELL!

FOR SOME PEOPLE, the thought of living in the middle of nowhere with no noise, no people and completely alone sounds more than inviting. For others it sounds equivalent to insanity, until they live a life with a neighbour from hell!

Some people think this is over the top, I'm sure. Those people clearly haven't lived a life without peace, a life prosecuted, a life where the place they call home becomes a dangerous or frustrating prison.

Obviously I'm writing this article for a reason. I write my life, my experiences, my feelings and thoughts. I write this article as I sit pondering the possibility of police presence or another animal being gutted with a knife as it hangs from my neighbours clothesline. So many people I know have endured such a horrible neighbour and unfortunately for me, this is not the first time.

I was first introduced to a neighbour from hell back in 2003. Her home was spotless, her gardens were blossoming with the colours of the rainbow. He (her partner) seemed like a tame and caring father. I was pleased I was moving into what appeared to be the text book perfect neighbourhood. It took one week and I realised it was a living hell.

During my time in this property that I paid good money to rent I lived in what can only be described as a war-zone. The police visits were as frequent as my smashed windows and the bleating cries for help as repetitive domestic violence where broken legs, stabbings and choking occurred. My car was fire bombed, my house broken into, my animals murdered in cold blood, sugar was poured into my petrol tank, I had objects thrown at me, repetitive verbal abuse and worse of all my children had glass smashed and impaled into their backs when the front door patio glass was smashed in on top of them. I lived like this for two years! Rentals were few and far between. I was a single mum of three little boys and powerless to move. I swore I would never place my children into a situation like this again. I swore I would never live in this situation again where I couldn't sleep safely and had peaking anxiety. I started to choose bigger homes in perfect suburbia where only the sane, straight and narrow could afford. Such as the home in living in today.

Unfortunately just recently I've fallen into the same trap. I leased a house on my new island home with all the trimmings and fittings making it just short of what friends have described as a mansion. I couldn't have found a more picture perfect street, home or suburb to live in, or so I thought.

On arrival I was greeted by my seemingly lovely neighbour who gave me the run down on every person that lived here. He seemed kind and helpful. He spoke only kind words. Days went on, clothes needed hanging, he continually approached me as I hung them. I felt obliged to talk back to him over the fence and be polite. Weeks went on and he started to creep me out with his talk of war, gore, slaughter and violence. He always seemed to know when I was outside. If I was there, he was there. I proceeded to end this situation of what could only be explained as being stalked.

As I dried my clothing in the clothes dryer to avoid going outside my electricity bills started escalating as high as my neighbours ruthless behaviour. He started frequenting my realestate and making ridiculous and absurd complaints which were not true. When ignored by my realestate (after them then frequently visiting me unannounced and calling my phone in response to his outcries) he decided calling the police for my every noise was a good idea.

This man not only terrorise myself but the children. He yells and screams daily using every profanity imaginable at his young children with mine hearing it. As mentioned he slices, skins, stabs and guts animals on his clothesline under spot lights (I'm in the middle of the city for the record, even if I am a country gal at heart it's unacceptable location for this). My daughter has become hysterical over seeing this brutality. While on the subject of animals, I best not forget his Akita (Japanese Fighting Dog). It spends at least half of its day trying to get over the fence to kill us. We've been threatened it will not just nip us if it does. The gore the dog is capable of he was not scared to explain when he was stalking me and my clothesline.

The police now ignore his invalid complaints, the real estate also do. I await escalation of this mans behaviour to an all new level. Living in this fear and with such harassment isn't fun. I pray it gets no worse and I'm not religious, living with a neighbour from hell makes you look for a heaven.

I asked around, I thought of others. I was sure I couldn't be the only unlucky person on the face of this earth. It seems there are so many people that have had to flee their homes due to having a neighbour from hell that continually interferes with their lives and or terrorises their family. The amount of people is actually alarming.

It's now that I would normally give advices in my articles due to these personal experiences and life lessons I always write about. I'm afraid this time I'm at a loss as to what to say. Last time I had a neighbour from hell I had to do everything I could to flee. My own mother once had one, she was lucky, they moved. She owned her home. You're in a tough spot if you are a home owner with horror that can only be rid by sale and movement. I hope that none of my readers are in this situation. That makes the neighbour from hell even more hellish.

In my research (go look for yourself) I found so many videos of neighbours filming God awful neighbours doing the most bizarre, insulting, horrible, vindictive and nasty things to them. It seems that the authorities in most cases had their hands tied alike in my neighbour from hell cases. Most of the conflicts resulted in the males having fist fights. Sad but true, this seems to be the way for some.

Guys, please wish me luck. Grant me the serenity to not retaliate against this asshole, to be safe and think smart. If there's a God, start praying that I'm not the next mammal strung up on his clothesline and gutted with his knife because in all honesty, the thought has crossed my mind that it could happen. If you are a neighbour from hell, pull your head in. Life is too short to mess it up for others. If you have a neighbour from hell, I wish you all the best and would love to hear your suggestions for dealing with this psycho. Contact me via my facebook page if you have any ideas to stop this craziness. I'd like to be able to play my music without awaiting police in the near future.
